Dear People of God,

On January 13, 2013, the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord, to assist the archdiocesan church in its vocation to promote life and to respond to the frequent failure of our culture to recognize and value all life, in all its stages, Archbishop Daniel Bohan proclaimed that beginning in 2013, October shall be established as Reverence for Life month, "a month especially dedicated to the celebrations of the value and dignity of human life in the Archdiocese of Regina".

This October, I want to draw your attention to two initiatives in particular: an effort to advance legislation that mandates parental involvement when a minor experiences an unplanned pregnancy; and ongoing education of the Catholic faithful on the issues surrounding euthanasia and assisted suicide.

I invite you to read the materials being provided and to consider participating in the Parental Consent Legislation postcard campaign.

I thank all the parishes in the archdiocese for your help and participation in celebrating Reverence for Life Month this October, and extend a special thanks to the members of the Reverence for Life committee for their assistance in preparing the materials. Through small steps let us renew our commitment to build a culture of life.

Yours in Christ,

✠ Donald J. Bolen
Archbishop of Regina
